CONFEDERATE MONEY

Used to Pay for West Virginia Lands in War Times.

THE SUPREME COURT'S DECISION

Beverses that of Judge Jackson, and holds that, though the Payment was not Legal, the Suit to Recover was Entered too Long after the Transaction.

Washington, D. C., May 4 .- In 1856 H. L. Opie sold for $11,000 a large tract of farm land in Jefferson county, then Virginia and now West Virginia, to Henry W. Castleman, a part of the payment being in cash and the rest in interest-bearing notes. Those payments, which fell due between 1861 and 1864, Castleman paid in Confederate money and Virginia bank notes, both of which were depreciated currency; going for the purpose of payment from the United States military lines in West Virginia into the Confederate lines in Virginia and making the payments to Mrs. Opic.

The sons of Mrs. Opic were in the Confederate army, and she accepted the mency, which was divided between the members of the family, and in 1865, at her request, the trustees executed a sheaf of release. deed of release.

About fifteen years afterward suit was brought against Castleman and the federate money did not constitute a pay ment in lawful money, as required by the terms of sale.

The United States district court of West Virginia gave judgment against Castleman, but the United States supreme court, in an opinion by Justice Harlan, reversed that judgment, holding that the action on the part of the Opies came too late.

All Sorts of Local News and Govelp from The congressional canvass, which practically ends with this week, is now practically ends with this week, is now quite as heated as any ever hold in this section. Senator Nichols was here yesterday uningling with the people and made a very favorable impression upon new acquaintances, but most of those he met were for Colonel Poorman, their own townsman, for first choice. Yet Senator Nichols stands very high here with those who know him best. Hon. David A. Hollingsworth, the Cadiz aspirant, was also here, but he Hon. David A. Hollingsworth, the Gadiz aspirant, was also here, but he came to meet friends from Monroe county, who brought him tidings of the loyalty of a number of the prominent Republicans of that county in the event they did not secure their first choice. Col. S. L. Mooney thinks that county will support Poorman as first choice, but they are divided among thomselves and are making quite a contest as between Dr. Keepers and Dr. Armstrong as to which faction will represent the county. Dr. Keepers is a Nichols man and Dr. Armstrong is represented as favorable to Col. Poorman. In this city the delegates anrepresented as favorable to Col. Poorman. In this city the delegates announced for Col. Poorman are as follows: First ward, Richard Heslop and Donald McDonald; Second ward, W. C. Cochran; Third ward, O. P. Mason and Spootwood Green; Fourth ward, Precinct A, W. D. Jones; Precinct B, H. A. Lichtenberger; Fitth ward, Dr. J. G. McCollough, George R. Lazure and S. S. McGowan. The opposition have not yet made their delegates known, but it is understood there will be contests in all the precincts. In, some respects the contest has descended to personal attacks on the character of some of the opposition, but this is not strengthening the assessions. opposition, but this is not strengthen-ing the assailants. It serves to show how hot the thing is getting, however.

In that article the following language appeared: "Deserting his party in time of need, as he did his regiment on the field." Let a candid community judge this language, the latter part of which he is ashamed to quote in his apologetic article of yesterday. WHAT THE DOCTORS SAY

They Agree Upon an Important Subject.

After a Most Careful Investigation They Completely Endorse One of the Greatest Discoveries of the Age.

Did you ever stop to think that the hardest worked people in the world are physicians? They are called out at all hours of the night; they have no day of rest; they are brought in contact with suffering constantly; there is a great strain upon them, especially if they have sympathetic natures. It is not surprising, therefore, that they feel distrustful of preparations or remedies seeking to cure without the aid of a physician-it is only natural that they should feel so. But when prominent and well-known physicians voluntarily make such statements as follows, it is make such statements as follows, it is not only remarkable, but shows how certain they must be of the fruth of what they say:

"I. E. Quimby, M. D., Rangeley, Me.:
"Although it is not considered ctiquette for a practicing physician to in any way aid in the introduction or sale of a proprietary medicine, still when we meet with an article of undoubted merit I believe it becomes our duty to not only use that article of undoubted merit i believe it becomes our duty to not only use that article in our practice, but to introduce it to others and let them know what it will do. An old acquaint-ance of mine had been a sufferer from billous headache for forty years. The bilious headache for forty years. The attacks came regularly every two weeks, and lasted, on the average, two days, she being confined to her bed during this time, suffering intensely. Hundreds of dollars had been expended in medicines and doctors, but without any permanent relief. She was at last persuaded to try Warner's Safe Cure. Seven bottles of the Safe Cure cured her of this terrible disease, and during the past seven years she has not had a sinpast seven years she has not had a sin-gle attack of the old trouble. This after having been afflicted for forty

"In October, 1884, I was called to attend the little son of David Moore, of Madrid, Maine. I found him suffering Madrid, Maine. I found him suffering from general anasarea, and bloated so that it was very hard for the little fellow even to breathe. By the heroic use of diurctics, cathartics and absorbents I was able to temporarily relieve him. But, do all I could, the same condition would present itself as soon as the medicine was stopped. I had three of the old physicians of the county in consultation, but it did no good. The boy failed every day. I do not believe that under our treatment he would have lived two months. I gave him up, and as a favor requested the father to try Warner's Safe Cure. The first bottle relieved him more than all our medicines lieved him more than all our medicines had done, and less than a dozen bottles permanently cured him, and he is to-permanently cured him, and he is to-day as tough and rugged as any boy in the town."

Tyre York, M. D., house of representa-tives, Washington, D. C., says: ... Some time since I contracted malarial fever in eastern North Carolina, and suffered very much for two months. The disease finally located in my kidneys, and I had almost given up ever getting well again, when I commenced taking Warner's Safe Cure and at once found relief. My Sale Cure and at once found relief. urine has been for a long time almost the color of blood. Very soon after tak-ing the Safe Cure it cleared up and my widneys were as sound as ever. I think Warner's Safe Cure a great blessing to mankind, and if taken regularly will cure almost any disease of the kidneys. I take pleasure in prescribing it in my practice."

J. D. A. Pohte, Buffalo, N. Y., de-clares: "Some time ago I had a pa-tient suffering severely from Bright's disease, the urine being nearly one-half albumen with casts pientiful under half albumen with casts plentiful under the microscope. I treated her with all the remedies usually employed by field-ical men, but without any perceptible benefit. Having heard so much of War-ner's Safe Cure, and knowing that the regular prescriptions were useless from trial, I recommended its use. From the very first bottle she commenced to mend, and after she had taken some half dozen bottles the albumen had disappeared, the urine resumed its normal color and the patient recovered entirely from her kidney trouble. This unexpected result gave me great confidence in the remedy and, putting aside my professional prejudice, and with an eye single to my patient's welfare, I have continued to prescribe it in many instances, and with uniform success."

B. H. Mars, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.:
"After using all remedies known to me as a regular graduate and practicing physician in one or two cases of kidney disease or Bright's disease, I concluded to prescribe Warner's Safe Cure. It worked like magic and restored the patients to health, which greatly astonished me. If the virtues of your remedy were known among doctors they would certainly, prescribe if for kidney would certainly prescribe if for kidney. would certainly prescribe it for kidney would certainly prescribe it for kidney disease."

C. Onyette, M. D., Wyandotte, Kas.: "With Warner's Safe Cure I have cured several cases of Bright's disease and other very bad kidney disorders. I believe it far superior to any remedy known to the medical profession." It, is one of my daily prescriptions, and is of great service in every instance."
